Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

It was quite interesting to read the article by Ma, Fouly, Li, and D’Antonio about nursing education in China and Egypt (May/June 2012 issue), but I believe there is one error in the article regarding Egypt being the most populous country in Africa. My web resources indicate that the honor goes to Nigeria, which has nearly twice the population of Egypt. Nonetheless, I appreciate Nursing Outlook providing a window into global issues in nursing practice and nursing education.
