Introducing article numbering to Nursing Outlook

Within the publishing industry, article numbering has emerged as an easy and efficient way to cite journal articles.

What is article numbering?

A unique article number is an abbreviated form of an article's DOI - digital object identifier. Citing an article with an article number is very simple: the article number is used instead of the page range in the citation.

Style 2 – Harvard (Name and Year):

Van der Geer, J., Hanraads, J.A.J., Lupton, R.A., 2018. The art of writing a scientific article. Heliyon. 19, 100205. <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.heliyon.2018.100205>.

While journal volumes and issue numbers will remain in place, article numbering will now play the key role in identifying specific articles. The introduction of article numbers brings several benefits for the journal and its readers and authors.

Benefits of article numbering

- More flexible reading: Article content can be optimized based on the device used to access it, supporting reading on-the-move, without needing to know how many traditional print pages the article takes up.
- Increased options for grouping related content: In online collections and Special Issues, articles can now be placed in any order, helping readers to identify papers relevant to their research interests faster.
- Faster publication: With article numbers, the version of record of the article is online and citable as soon as the proof corrections have been incorporated, ensuring readers have access to the latest research faster.

What will change for authors?

- When citing articles, you will need to use the article number; see the example provided above. Please note that the export citation functionality available on ScienceDirect for this journal already supports this new citation format.
- Each article will have page numbers starting from page 1, but the issue itself will not have sequential page numbering.
- The table of contents in the print issue will reflect the order of the online issue; print readers will need to refer to the article number, clearly visible at the top of every page, to identify articles of interest.

We are delighted that Nursing Outlook's readers and authors will now enjoy these benefits.
